

Skyriders appoints new assistant site manager

By Matthew Wood – writer

Rope access specialists Skyriders is proud to announce the appointment of Billy Antonio as assistant site manager at Kusile power station – a well-deserved promotion following his performance as the site's safety officer.

His new role entails more involvement on safe and effective production at Kusile, and ensuring service delivery excellence. Another function of the role is to assist management in numerous tasks, by regularly attending meetings and giving feedback to top management and to the workforce. Commenting on his new appointment, Antonio said, "My hopes within Skyriders is to become part of senior management and be more involved in critical decision making that will contribute to the future and wealth of the company and its workforce."

Skyriders' management would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Antonio on his promotion, and wish him all the best in his new role. FA
